1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Claims	1-28	YES
	Claims	N/A	NO
Inventive step (IS)	Claims	1-28	YES
	Claims	N/A	NO
Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims	1-28	YES

2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)

D1: RU 2116461 C1 (STEPANOVICH, S. A.) 27 July 1998
(1998-07-27)

D1 describes a rotary engine having an external recess with a cylindrical cavity wherein two additional compressive portions are dynamically arranged, namely a cylindrical portion 2 and a generally triangularly shaped blade-like portion 1, said portions together forming a compression chamber M and being arranged to perform a single compression per revolution; the cylindrical portion is rotatably mounted in the cylindrical cavity, is ring-shaped with a circular external profile and a figure-of-eight-shaped internal opening; the cylindrical portion rotates about the blade-like portion describing a rotary movement; the blade-like portion rotates about its power output shaft.

Claims 1 to 28 meet the requirements of novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability of PCT Article 33(2) to 33(4). None of the prior art documents describes an energy machine capable of performing a number of compressions per cycle no lower than the number of sides of the blade-like portion, and of which the blade-like portion describes a rotation-translation movement or even a movement as described in the characterising portion of claim 2.
